

Osmotics Breast Cancer Support and Products to Aid in the Healing Process

To support Breast Cancer Awareness month, Osmotics Cosmeceuticals is teaming with one of the leading resource centers for breast cancer, The Comprehensive Breast Center Resource Center & Patient Support Program at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital in New York City. The company's donation – 10 percent of the proceeds - will support research, prevention, and education.

Since skincare can be a challenge during breast cancer treatment, a number of Osmotics products are known for their soothing and restorative properties. In addition these products are doctor recommended for patients who are undergoing radiation and chemotherapy. Dr. Alison Estabrook of The Comprehensive Breast Center Resource Center & Patient Support Program at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital recommends the following products for her patients.

- TriCeram, a rich cream that helps ease skin irritation and lessen scarring, while encouraging the skin to regain its health and return to a normalized state. Dr. Estabrook relies on the healing elements of TriCeram to help her patients. She says, "the massage using Triceram during their infusion helps patients to relax while the natural ingredients reduce the severe redness, dryness and cracked skin that women get while undergoing treatment."
- FNS Revitalizing Shampoo, Conditioner & Serum, a three step system that encourages hair growth and promotes thick, strong, healthy hair. Dr. Estabrook touts the proprietary mixture of FNS. "The products contain the vitamins, minerals and botanicals that are essential for the hair re-growth of women who have lost their hair during chemotherapy," she says.
